

Reliance Communications Limited

3rd Floor, Munawar Chambers, Raj Bhavan Road, Somajiguda, Hyderabad 500 082, Andhra Pradesh, India

19th March 2008

This is P.Purushotham S/o. Muralidhara Rao Aged about 26 Yrs, Dept.: Legal, O/o. Reliance Communication Infrastructure Limited 3rd Floor, Munawar Chambers, Raj Bhavan Road, Somajiguda, Hyderabad 500 082, Andhra Pradesh, India.

Stating that,

This is true and correct that a Lease Agreement for setting up Telecommunication Network was existed between Reliance Infocomm Ltd., and Modi Properties and Investments Pvt., Ltd., The Lease had been commenced from 22nd October 2002. From the date of the agreement till 31-12-07 we have been paid the rents which was fixed Rs. 8000/- per month and as per agreement conditions. There are no disputes between the parties to the agreement. The complainant is a third party to the agreement.

Further contesting that,

1. On perusal of the complaint filed by the complainant it reveals that there is not a single allegation of fraud or cheating against RCOM or any of its employee.
2. Secondly, we had no knowledge about the forming of Association. Hence dishonest or fraudulent intention can not be attributed to us.
3. Thirdly, by executing the agreement with Builder, we have not derived any wrongful gain. The same security deposit & monthly rental would have been paid by us to the Association, had the agreement been executed with the Association.
4. There is enormous delay in filing the complaint.
5. This is essentially Civil Nature in dispute.

For Reliance Communication Limited

(P.Purushotham)