Dear Soham Sir,

The flats were done about a long time ago. There was a lack of co-ordination between the engineers. There was no information provided regarding QC checks. Moreover the urgency for having three new model flats in the same floor, we wanted to have all the flats finished until stage two.

Similarly, bathroom flooring were done in flats until fourth floor. We had been asked by purchase for requisition of bulk order of tiles. As there was no proper storage area at site, we decided to go ahead with the bathroom flooring.

I understand that there have been mistakes in the above two incidents. Going forward I assure that all rules will be followed as per the circular. Separate files have been maintained for all stages of works and QC informed properly about the stages.

Now that we have a separate engineer for finishing works, he will be entrusted with the works and monitored.

We will not be repeat the mistakes henceforth.

Thanks and Regards

Shirish
